

Mia Klotz is a student pursuing a BA in English at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst. Her writing has appeared in Hachette Book Group, Harper Collins Publishers, and Penguin Random House. She enjoys spending time with her family and eating good food. She lives in West Boylston, Massachusetts.

Jacket Design: Mia Klotz
Editor Photograph: Mark Klotz

Penguin Random House LLC
1745 Broadway Street, New York,
N.Y. 10019
www.penguin.com
Printed in U.S.A

FICTION

"This collection of ghost stories left me checking underneath my bed everynight before I went to sleep. If you're looking for a complete collection all of the most chilling ghost stories, look no further!"

Hannah Montgomery, The New York Times

"If you are a fan of ghosts, horror, and all things supernatural then this is the book for you! As soon as you pick this book up, you can't put it down!"

Justin Rodgers, Daily Telegram

"If you are already a believer in the supernatural, this book takes it to the next level. Be prepared to hide under your sheets at night while you read these haunting accounts of paranormal activity. Nothing will prepare you for the horror found in these pages."

Molly Chase, The Washington Post

MIA
KLOTZ

A COLLECTION OF GHOST STORIES AND THE UNKNOWN

A COLLECTION OF GHOST STORIES AND THE UNKNOWN

Edited by Mia Klotz

USA $29.99
CAN $34.99

This curated collection consists of teeth-chattering ghost stories and short stories about the unknown or the supernatural. Each story follows an individual storyline unique in its expression of paranormal activity.

Ranging from stories of a black cat to an old mansion, from a dead woman's photograph to a phantom toe; these stories all narrate the experience to be afraid of the unknown. With ranging stories comes a range of differing authors from Edgar Allen Poe to Elenor F. Lewis and many others who provide readers with chilling short stories of supernatural encounters that haunt you through the book.

A Collection of Ghost Stories and the Unknown brings readers horror, fear, and mysteries that will lead you questioning the world.